EFFECT OF EMANCIPATION ON THE AFRICAN RACE IN THE BRITISH WEST INDIES.

There is no blinking the truth. Years of bitter experience—years of hope deferred, of self-devotion unrequited, of poverty, of humiliation, of prayers unanswered, of sufferings decided, of insults unresented, of contumely patiently endured—have convinced us of the truth. It must be spoken out, loudly and energetically, despite the wild mockings of "howling cant." The freed West India slave will not till the soil for wages; the free son of the ex-slave is as obstinate as his sire. He will not cultivate lands which he has not bought for his own. Yams, man-goes and plantains; these satisfy his wants; he does not care for yours. Cotton, sugar and coffee, and tobacco—he cares little for them. And what matters it to him that the Englishman has sunk his thousands and tens of thousands on mills, machinery and plant, which now totter on the languishing estate that for years has only returned beggary and debt. He eats his yams, and sniggers at "Buckra."

We know not why this should be; but it is so. The negro has been bought with a price—the price of English taxation and English toil. He has been "redeemed from bondage" by the sweat and travail of some millions of hard-working Englishmen. Twenty millions of pounds sterling—one hundred millions of dollars—have been distilled from the brains and muscles of the free English laborer, of every degree to fashion the West India negro into a "free and independent laborer." "Free and independent enough he has become, God knows; but laborer he is not; and, so far as we can see, never will be. He will sing hymns and quote texts, but honest, steady industry, he not only detests but despises. We wish to Heaven that some people in England—neither Government people, nor parsons, nor clergymen—but some just-minded, honest-hearted and clear-sighted men, would go out to some of the islands—say Jamaica, Dominica or Antigua—not for a month or three months, but for a year—would watch the precious protege of English philanthropy, the freed negro, in his daily habits; would watch him as he lazily plants his little squatting; would see him as he proudly rejects agricultural or domestic service or accepts it only at wages ludicrously disproportionate to the value of his work. We wish, too, they would watch him while, with a hide thicker than that of a hippopotamus and a body to which fervid heat is a comfort rather than an annoyance, he droningly lounges over the prescribed task on which the intrepid Englishman, uninured to the burning sun, consumes his impatient energy and too often sacrifices his life. We wish they would go out and view the negro in all the blazonry of his idleness, his pride his ingratitude, contemptuously sneering at the industry of that race which made him free; and then come home and teach the memorable lesson of their experience to the fanatics who have perverted him into what he is.—London Times.

A Virginia Camp Meeting.

FAIRFAX Co., Va., Aug. 20, 1859.

Last week we had a camp meeting on the farm of Mr. J. Gibson, in this county. On Sunday, the 21st inst., while the people were engaged in the usual exercises on the canvas ground, a man named Joseph Birch shot a negro named Charles West, wounding him severely in the side. The negro is said to be, habitually, a peaceable man, while Birch is a contemptible rowdy. Birch is at present in the custody of the authorities, and the negro is in a fair way of recovery. I saw him to-day. I am acquainted with both Birch and West.

Immediately after the camp broke up last Friday, twenty-seven negroes were sold on the ground to some Southern traders. Among this number were one woman and seven children. One of the men was on his knees engaged in prayer, when the trader slapped him on the shoulder and told him he must go with him. He intimated his willingness to go; but assured his former master that if they should meet up in Heaven, he would have a settlement with him there. The trader stopped his mouth with his hand, and handcuffed him. The whole were then put into an omnibus, which was ready for them, and they were conveyed to Alexandria. Such is the way the Virginian Methodists "follow Christ."

A party of American engineers are about to proceed, under instructions from the Navy Department, to the Isthmus of Darien, to search for a practical route for a ship canal. Explorations are to be made to test the accuracy of the statements of Gisborne and Cullen, English engineers, as to the existence of a depression of the Eastern Cordillera as to admit of the easy construction of the canal. Should these reports prove untrue, the party are to seek a practical route along the line traversed by Surgeon Caldwell, U. S. N., in 1857. Among the many facilities for making the exploration, they are to be furnished with a balloon, from which observations of the country may be taken through the use of what is called an "instantanetype."

MEETING OF CATHOLIC PRELATES IN DUBLIN.—The Dublin correspondent of the London Times, writing on the 2nd August, says:—

All the prelates of the Roman Catholic church in Ireland with the solitary exception of Bishop Blake, of Down, assembled yesterday in the chapel St. Kevin, attached to the cathedral church in Marlborough street, "for the purpose of taking into consideration several questions of great importance to the Irish Catholics." The proceedings are as yet a mystery, all business being done with closed doors, and all that outsiders know is that the Papal Legate, as superior in rank to the Primate, presided, and that the deliberations lasted until 4 p. m., when an adjournment to this day took place.

Canada is one of the most industrious States of this continent. This year it will have a surplus of $10,000,000 to $13,000,000 of breadstuffs for sale, besides $15,000,000 worth of lumber, and a million and a quarter produce of her fisheries.

Mdme. Jenny Lind Goldschmidt is about to resume concert singing; and to take a tour in Ireland, accompanied by Herr Jachim.

THE BRITISH COLONIST.

A. DE COSMOS,.....EDITOR.

VICTORIA, V. I.

FRIDAY MORNING, OCT. 21.

THE QUEEN VS. ATTORNEY GENERAL CARY.

On the arrival of the Eliza Anderson, on Monday, Mr. Attorney General Cary was arrested and brought before Justice Pemberton on the charge of accepting a challenge to fight a duel, sent to him by Mr. D. B. Ring. His Honor committed Mr. Cary to jail, but as the latter could not obtain a habeas corpus that evening, he was liberated on his own recognizance, for £500 to appear yesterday morning. At 12 o'clock Mr. Cary appeared at the bar. Two complaints were read, and sworn to by Mr. Bayley, Superintendent of Police, and Mr. Smith, Clerk of Court, alleging that a violation of the peace was apprehended on the part of Mr. Cary because Mr. Ring had published in the British Colonist, that Mr. Cary was a coward. In the direct and cross-examination, there was nothing but hearsay evidence, the truth of which the prisoner denied, and impressed on his Honor the absurdity of blinding him over to keep the peace when it was not proven that he had accepted the challenge or had done an overt act. The Judge said that it was a matter of notoriety, and on that and the evidence he was determined to do it. The prisoner said he had no right to arrest him on notoriety; evidence there was none; and if his Honor persisted he would go to prison. After delivering a lecture to the distinguished prisoner for not setting a good example by submitting at once, to his decision, he sentenced him to twelve months imprisonment or to give his bond in £500 to keep the peace for a year. Mr. C. assured his Honor that the best example he could set was to resist his illegal proceedings, by going to prison, and accordingly he retired in charge of an officer to a cell.

RELIGIOUS FEUD.—We have received a "Circular" addressed "To all Impartial Men and Lovers of Right." It is issued by the Rev. W. F. Clarke. It appears a serious difference of opinion exists between him and his colleague the Rev. M. MacFie, respecting the propriety of mixing, promiscuously, colored with white Christians in church during Divine service. The breach has been so far widened that Mr. MacFie celebrates worship in the Eldorado Hall, instead of acting in conjunction with Mr. Clarke. Both gentlemen were sent here as missionaries by the English Congregational Missionary Society. Mr. Clark holds that Christianity knows no difference between the white and colored man; and therefore he will not make a difference to suit the prejudices of any one, by creating a "negro's corner" in his church. As a matter of "taste" Mr. MacFie prefers separating them. If it is essential to salvation to adhere to the principles of primitive Christianity, Mr. Clarke's position is impregnable; and besides we cannot see how any Christian, guided by Biblical principles can take any other position. But religion in modern times has become so popular, that it is often purely "professional," and in that case, the man of God, lawyer-like, advocates the doctrine which suits best the prejudices of his congregation,—instead of being scrupulous to follow in the footsteps of the apostles, and "preach the gospel to every creature" without "respect of persons."

ARRIVAL.—The Eliza Anderson arrived on Wednesday from New Westminster with 60 passengers, and about $10,000 in dust by the Expresses.

DOGGERY.—If such decisions as Justice Pemberton's in regard to Mr. Cary become established precedents, no man will be safe from annoyance. All that will be required to bind a peaceable citizen over to keep the peace, which he had no intention of violating, is for an enemy to write and publish a challenge. With Dogberry's on the bench, who condemn on hearsay evidence, and town talk, justice is disgraced, and all rules of law and evidence useless. No doubt Mr. Pemberton wishes to do right; but what the community pays him $3000 a year for—is to do it. Besides no man should be allowed to plead "good intentions" for inflicting a wrong on another. Were wrong intentionally or unintentionally done, the injury would be the same; and therefore the perpetrator should be punished. If after two years experience, the bench is made a laughing-stock, improvement is hopeless. So the sooner we have a man of common sense on the bench the better.

SIDE-WALK.—Considerable inconvenience is offered to pedestrians near the new Bank, Yates street, by stopping up the side walk with building material. It is possible for the material to be convenient, and at the same time not turn pedestrians into the middle of a muddy street. A reasonable length of time has perhaps been allowed the builders; therefore it is hoped that the side-walk will no longer be obstructed,—or if so that a good walk will be made around the piles of stone and mortar in the street. The walk at Fraser's corner is also in a dangerous condition, planks torn up and turned upside down, with spike-points dangerously prominent. Besides on Government street the Attorney General's office and Post Office, project into the street, and obstruct the uniform improvement of the street.

VICTORIA, October 20th, 1859.

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST:—I should not intrude on your space had I not, on my arrival here, found a letter in the Victoria papers, signed J. G. Barnston, which I cannot pass unnoticed.

On Wednesday fortnight, Mr. Alston informed me that Mr. Ring had told him "that my professional conduct was very fishy; and that in one case I had advanced money to commence legal proceedings."

The next day I requested Mr. Alston to come with me for the purpose of obtaining an interview with Mr. Ring, to investigate the charge. On that day, whilst standing at the door of the Court House, in conversation with Mr. Alston and the Sheriff, I saw Mr. Ring, and openly asked him whether he had made use of the words repeated to me by Mr. Alston.

Mr. Ring was compelled to confess that he had done so, (his informant being Mr. Wright), and I then made the following remark: "I will tell you, Mr. Ring, that you have related scandalous reports about me, without investigation, and without apprizing me of the reports, and your conduct in so doing has been very ungentlemanly."

Mr. Ring, within the space of the next half hour, made two or three attempts to explain away his admission, and to obtain a retraction of my remark; but as I am in the habit of paying attention to the acts rather than the alleged motives of men, I declined to retract my expressed conviction, much less to take any steps out of which Mr. Ring could obtain his favorite object—an advertising notice.

On the same day I requested Mr. Wright, who originated the report, to attend at my chambers with Mr. Alston, and those gentlemen discovered, upon investigation, that there was no ground for the alleged charge. I received from the hands of Mr. Barnston the letter which Mr. Ring has thought proper to insert in the papers by way of advertisement, unaccompanied by any challenge, or message. I then told him that I could not, after perusal, bring the least notice of a document of that character—adding that my official position must prevent my initiating any further steps in the matter. Later on the same day, I laughingly said to Mr. Barnston—Why don't you advise your friend to punch my head like a man, instead of a head of himself—to which Mr. Barnston replied, "It's nothing to do with me."

On the same day I asked the advice of four gentlemen, Messrs. Alston, Drake, Piers and Pemberton, as to the course I should take in the matter, and they were unanimous in advising me to leave unnoticed the letter in question.

The letter in question contained no challenge whatever. Mr. Barnston's imputations, therefore, that I declined a challenge tendered by Mr. Ring, and that I was afraid Mr. Ring was about to advertise himself in the papers, are untrue.

Whether Mr. Ring's conduct deserved the epithet of ungentlemanly; whether Mr. Ring, who according to the statements contained in his own letter, had retailed an unfounded charge behind my back—or I, who openly confronted him, is the slanderer; whether Mr. Ring, after submitting to my remark, or my departure, and an insulting letter on the eve of my departure, and publishes it where I am, is a law officer and a member of the Crown, should have been included in consideration of the peace? whether MacFie's advertisement is not a fitting comment on Mr. Ring's bragadoles, I am willing to leave others to decide.

I need not say that I am disinclined to enter into a newspaper controversy on private matters, which the public care nothing about.

Thanking you for your generosity in respecting the good name of the absent, I believe me,

Yours, &c.
GEORGE H. CARY.

[ADVERTISEMENT.]

VICTORIA, October 20th, 1859.

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST:—As my name has been mentioned in this matter, and as a friend of Mr. Cary, I beg to state that, having read his letter addressed to you, I fully endorse its contents, and desire to confirm the accuracy of the account there given of the dispute between him and Mr. Ring. In the presence of Mr. Wright, Mr. Cary most satisfactorily proved that the statement respecting his professional conduct, made by Mr. Wright and repeated by Mr. Ring, is entirely false. And I regret that Mr. Ring has not thought proper to acknowledge this in the same public manner in which he has sought to vindicate his own conduct. When that statement was made to me by Mr. Ring, I was not led to suppose that it was intended to reach the ears of Mr. Cary, but I regarded it in the light of a piece of professional gossip.

In conclusion, I would observe that when one gentleman wishes to obtain satisfaction for what he considers an insult, the usual course is to send a friend to demand either an apology or what is termed an honorable satisfaction, and not to send a letter by bearer, for the purpose of provoking the aggressor to challenge the person aggrieved.

I am, yours, &c.
E. GRAHAM ALSTON.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Oct. 1859.

I have just arrived on the steamer Col. Moody, from a trip to Fort Hope, bringing down 60 passengers. The estimate of gold dust on board is about $50,000, the greater part of which is in the hands of passengers. Most of the miners are from Fort Alexander and Fort George. The reason chiefly as signed for leaving is the coming hard winter, and the scarcity of healthy food. I am creditably informed that a number will winter on the Upper Fraser. I have seen men who have made, in the Alexander mines, as high as $93 per day, to the rocker, in coarse gold,—no quicksilver silver being used. Goods are reported scarce on the Upper Fraser; and mule-trains eagerly looked for by the hardy miners who anxiously desire to lay in a supply of provisions for the winter. Want of mules effectually stops a surplus of provisions being packed into the upper country this season. Hence fear of starvation has induced some to leave $11 diggings and go down to Victoria, expecting to return to the mines early in the Spring. A considerable amount of vegetables has been raised on the Lilloette route, and will prove invaluable to the miners, preventing scurvy. Snow has fallen on the Fort Hope trail four feet deep,—and it is supposed will stop travelling for the season. But there is no doubt that it will be the best point to pack from in the Spring, as the enterprising merchants of that place are determined to keep open a good trail thence to Boston Bar, and the Forks.

Fort Hope is improving. Business appears good. The Billiard Saloons appear well supported. Messrs. Crowe and Thompson have just completed their spacious Billiard saloon, which will vie for comfort with any in Victoria.

At Fort Yale business is lively,—a good many mule trains coming in for supplies. Judge Begbie and suite had returned to Fort Hope, where he holds court. Gen. Palmer had arrived with his train from the Dalles, Oregon.

New diggings have been discovered at Harrison Bar, below Fort Hope that will pay from $11 to $20. A difficulty occurred there about a mining claim lately. Knives were freely used, and some cutting and maiming, but nothing very serious. Some arrests were made. The bar appears extensive and a considerable number of men are at work.

The want of a steamer running direct to Port Douglas is a great inconvenience, as it is impossible to leave the Hope steamer at the mouth of Harrison river and go to Douglas and return in time to meet her on the downward trip. Boats occupy four days going up and down Harrison river. The delay in improving the navigation of Harrison river is severely felt.

New diggings have been discovered in the benches near Cayoosh. Miners are making $9 per day.

FIRE.

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST:—I deem it my duty to say to those interested in the disposition of the Fire Engines, in the Fort, that none of the H. B. Company's officers would prevent their use in case of fire in the town, "reponsible parties, of course, making the demand" for them. I would also mention that the entire apparatus has been placed in my charge.

In this connection a suggestion:—In case of an alarm of fire, parties not having property in immediate danger, will do the greatest service by going at once to the Fort and roll the Engines and assist in getting them to work on the fire (if there be any). The owners of property are certainly aware it is to their interest to act upon this suggestion, from the fact of the want of a proper organization, which however, I hope shortly to perfect, by and with the assistance of those gentlemen who take a proper interest in the protection of property against Fire in the town of Victoria.

EDWARD COKER,
Supt Fire Engines.

Victoria Oct. 21, 1859.

We are indebted to Mr. Lowell, Wells, Fargo & Co., Freeman & Co., for Oregon and Washington exchanges.

Mr. Attorney General Carey, was released yesterday from durance vile by a writ of Habeas Corpus, issued by Judge Cameron. He gave his bond for £100 to appear next Monday before his Lordship to show cause why Justice Pemberton's sentence should not be enforced.

FROM FORT SIMPSON.—Several of Capt. Torrens' party returned on Wednesday from Fort Simpson. Capt. Torrens, Downie and Denman, were still in that region. Some fine specimens of copper and coal were brought down.

ADDITIONAL SUBSCRIPTION.—J. J. Southgate Esq., has furnished us with an additional list of subscriptions to the Hook and Ladder Company, which amounts to $400. It will be published in our next issue.

The steamer Eliza Anderson, trip before last, carried up to New Westminster 13 passengers, and brought down 100; the last trip 21 passengers went up and 66 came down. Thus the decrease of the population of British Columbia in two weeks is 132. From all accounts the exodus will continue for sometime.

THANKS.—To Mr. Wm. Jeffray the obliging and reliable Travelling agent between Victoria and British Columbia, for sundry favors.
